

How do we form the "more perfect union" the framers of the Constitution intended? By insisting that both major political parties, and our variety of political ideologies, agree that basic human rights for all Americans ought to be added to that sacred document.

Every session I propose multiple amendments to the Constitution that will give each citizen rights that are invaluable. These amendments are important to me because until they are placed in the Constitution, Congress will not have the power to truly enforce them with vigor and force to make the necessary improvements to our society that is necessary.

In our affluent society and under our Constitution, every American should be empowered with the individual right to vote, to education and to health care. These new rights will take all of us, and our society as a whole, a long way toward becoming a nation that truly lives up to its promise and potential.
